

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A stretch tape for eyelid facelifting which is stuck in between eyes and near both inner corners of eyes, or beside and near the outer corner of each eye, enabling facelifting which makes the eyes look slitter and brighter by stretching skins of eyelids by the stretch tape.
2. A stretch tape for eyelid facelifting according to claim 1 wherein said stretch tape is tapered so that said stretch tape points the inner edge or the outer edge of the eye.
3. A stretch tape for eyelid facelifting according to claim 2 wherein the width of said stretch tape is between 5 and 15 mm, the length of said stretch tape is between 15 and 30 mm, and the angle of said taper is between 20 and 60 degrees.
4. A stretch tape for nose facelifting which has a shape of an inverted character U or an inverted character V, the top portion of the inverted character U or the inverted character V is stuck to an upper portion of the nose in between eyes, and both foot portions of the inverted character U or the inverted character V are stuck at both sides of the hillside portion of the nose, so that said stretch tape stretches the hillside portion of the nose toward a head.
5. A stretch tape for nose facelifting according to claim 4 wherein the width of said stretch tape is between 5 and 20 mm, each foot length of the inverted U character or the inverted V character is between 15 and 35 mm, and the stride angle between feet of the inverted U character or the inverted V character is between 0 and 120 degrees.
6. A stretch tape for facelifting of wings of a nose wherein the shape of said stretch tape is nearly triangle and the center of the triangle is stuck to upper portions of the wings of the nose, so that said stretch tape stimulates the cartilages of the wings of the nose to make the wings of the nose smaller.
7. A stretch tape for facelifting of the wings of the nose according to claim 6 wherein the width of said stretch tape is between 5 and 40 mm, the base length of said triangle is 35 and 50 mm, and the vertex angle of said triangle is between 0 and 120 degrees.

8. A stretch tape for beautification and facelifting which is stuck on a surface of a skin so that wrinkles on the surface of the skin is stretched and fixed, wherein said stretch tape is made of a stretchable base material on which an adhesive material is applied thickly to the thickness of 35grams per square meters or more.

9. A stretch tape for beautification and facelifting according to claim 8, wherein said stretch tape is made of a base material consisting of urethane nonwoven fabric on which an acrylic adhesive material is applied thickly to the thickness of 35grams per square meters or more.

10. A stretch tape for beautification and facelift according to claim 8 or claim 9, wherein the width and the length of said stretch tape are between 15 and 50mm and the end of said stretch tape that pulls the skin is shaped roundish.

11. A method of beautification and facelifting using said stretch tapes according to claim 8 or claim 9, wherein wrinkles of skins are removed by applying a moisturizing and astringing pack to the whole face at bedtime, by sticking said stretch tapes on such portions as skins around eyes, upside of eyelids or on cheeks after pulling, stretching and fixing the wrinkles of the skins from around the wrinkles of the skins, and by washing away the moisturizing and astringing pack on the next day.